HAZARDS

AUTOMOBILES, unmolested by law, traveling up and down on the beach front by night carrying only one light.

BOYS and girls 'riding' running boards of automobiles, forbidden by local caution. Report last grand jury referred to this.

BICYCLES traveling streets by night without rear light. Some no lights. This is a double hazard, motorists complain.

SKATING on streets. It is forbidden by city to roller skate on block in which hospital is located—day or night.

ANTOMOBILE and trucks parked at night on street with no parking lights. Open possibility for open crash.

THE DRIVER of one-light automobiles is growing numerous. Police should make instant arrests. There should be no toleration of this most dangerous hazard.

DIRECTOR OF ROTARY INTERNATIONAL TALKS TO BAY ST. LOUIS CLUB

Allison C. Brush, Recently Returned From Europe, Distinguished Speaker

Allison G. Brush, Director of Rotary International, was guest speaker before the Rotary Club at Hotel Reed Wednesday. President Norton Haas introduced the distinguished visitor, and gave a brief review of his outstanding work in Rotary, stating that he had served as President of the Laurel, Miss., Rotary Club, District Governor of the old 17th District, Chairman of the Extension Committee of Rotary International, and now as a member of the International Board of Directors. This he added "should be considered an outstanding honor to Mississippi."

Director Brush gave brief accounts of personal experiences he had since actively connected with Rotary work, stating that his work resulted in untold pleasure to him personally. This was true he said, because of the friendship he had formed and the fellowship he had enjoyed by the fact that he was a Rotarian.

He told of his experiences while attending the International Convention, held at Nice, France, which he described as one of the largest and most outstanding gatherings ever assembled in the world, of representatives from all of the civilized nations. He told of the praises for International Rotary, as voiced by

PEOPLES FEDERAL LOAN AND SAVINGS ASSOCIATION READY

To Expand Business Under Provisions of New Charter—Succeeds Old Homestead.

The advertisement of the Peoples Federal Savings and Loan Association of Bay St. Louis appears on the local page of this issue of The Echo, featuring phases of attractive features of the new federal organization for Bay St. Louis.

The ad reminds one that "Now is the time to buy, build or repair and down on the beach front." In view of the fact Bay St. Louis acutely needs the building of one hundred and more homes makes this statement of immediate interest and will prove of value to many wishing to participate in this program for building.

Direct reduction loans means interest reduced each month. "You pay interest only on the monthly balance you owe, says the advertisement. In the event one should not have sufficient money the association will make the loan.

A new ad for the new federal association will appear in these columns from time to time and will carry valuable information. Watch for the ads.

PECAN BUYING SEASON IS HERE, ANNOUNCES A. PALMISANO

Buyer for Over Thirty Years Is Ready to Buy—Jumbo Poor Boy Sandwiches.

A Palmisano, well-known local resident and business man, located on Old Spanish Trail, opposite city fire station, announces the pecan season is open with a bountiful crop in prospect, and that he is ready to resume his business of buying pecans as he has over a period of thirty years.

He will buy pecans either in the shell or shelled and will pay spot cash on delivery. He has been buying pecans for a generation and is well acquainted with the business, realizing that fair dealings and paying the highest market prices always makes far a more profitable business—to the seller as well as to the buyer.

Mr. Palmisano says he has an order from a chain store for 5000 lbs. Schley Pecans, to be delivered as he gets them between now and November 15th, therefore any grower that has good sound quality, he would advise them to get in touch with him before they sell, he says he will stretch a point in prices to get good sound Schley nuts, as he must fill this order.

No quantity too large. He will, by request, visit orchards, small or large, and make offer for the crop. There is no limit to quantity that he will buy—either in shell or shelled.

If a grower has a large quantity of pecans on hand, let him know, he will gladly call at your home to look over stock and submit prices. Many families have time to shell and prefer to sell in this way and procure better price and handling less bulk.

Mr. Palmisano is equally as well known on the Coast as he is in Louisiana. For many years he has been a heavy purchaser in Louisiana and the people of two states know him for fair dealing and integrity. The name of Palmisano is a household word to all pecan growers and is successfully associated with that business.

Jumbo Poor Boy Sandwiches. The Palmisano Grocery and restaurant, cafe, located opposite the city fire engine station, is also known and enjoys a wide patronage. They have a large trade for the well-known Jumbo Poor Boy Sandwich, not merely a sandwich, but just as the name implies, of tempting quality and the large size of the original "poor boy." Curb service day and evening and no one should fail to try one of these delicious and generous sized sandwiches.

The President of France, in his address at the opening of the convention, he pointed to the splendid work accomplished by Rotary in promoting better relations and more friendly understanding of the people living along the borders of different countries of Europe. He said "that all these activities of Rotary assisted materially in the promotion of Peace and Good Will throughout the world."

In conclusion he reminded the listeners of the message of past presidents of Rotary, who set as the goal of Rotary "The bringing of Rotary to every village and hamlet in the land, and the filling of all available classifications."

MUNICIPAL GAS IS PROPOSED

To City Bay St. Louis By Representatives From Gas Fields—Matter Gets Hearing.

B. A. Campbell, attorney from New Orleans, and F. P. Joseph, constructing engineer of Glenora, La., representing natural gas interests, sat with members of the Board of Mayor and City Commissioners at the City Hall Monday morning in the interest of establishing a gas plant in Bay St. Louis that would use the natural gas as it came from the Louisiana fields.

The subject of a municipal-owned plant was discussed at length. The city fathers listened attentively and queried the representatives of natural gas. But at adjournment, while the Mayor reports he favors the proposition, the commissioners did not commit themselves but said they would take the matter under further consideration and would give the gentlemen a hearing at a later date to be named.

The meeting was quite interesting and brought out different phases of the subject. The people of Bay St. Louis want natural gas and this seems to be a chance to get it, provided, however, the best interests of the municipality are protected.

STANISLAUS FOOTBALL SQUAD TO TIE UP WITH MOSS POINT IN BAY CITY

Will Play on Local Gridiron and Fans Will Turn Out in Large Numbers—Five Hundred Coming From Moss Point to Witness Game.

PEOPLE'S BLDG. AND LOAN ASS'N. TAKES FEDERAL CHARTER.

Rather than renew their charter, expiring by statute limitation of fifty years, the Peoples Building & Loan Association, of Bay St. Louis, has joined federal forces and is now operating under provisions of federal supervision, and all accounts up to $500.00, as a result, for each individual stockholder are insured. As a result of the change the building and loan association will henceforth be known and do business under the name of Peoples Federal Savings and Loan Association, the federal charter dating August 24, 1937.

Officers of the association are George R. Rea, president; F. H. Egloff, vice president; Charles Traub, Jr., secretary-treasurer. These officers, with the addition of Jos. O. Mauffray, Rene de Montluzin, Jr., and John J. McDonald, constitute the board of directors.

The new charter provides for savings accounts as well as for investment shares which is an advancement of modern financing. Offices of the new organization are in the Masonic Temple, same location as the former Peoples Bldg. & Loan Ass'n.

Interesting History. About fifty years ago a group of local residents, including Dr. Roger de Montluzin, A. R. Hart, George D. Ellis, E. J. Bowers, Dr. W. E. Walker, John B. Ior, Joseph F. Cazeneuve, E. H. Hoffmann, Richard Mendes, Dr. R. J. Turner and others, formed the Peoples Building & Loan Association. The first officers were:

Dr. R. J. Turner, president; John B. Fahey, vice-pres.; Geo. W. Ellis, secretary; George Planchet, Sr., treasurer. Of these names there are known only two living today, Messrs. Bowers and Hart.

Mr. Ellis, a local attorney, was the first secretary and held the position for quite a number of years. He lived at the old Crescent Hotel and was well known at that time. Later he moved to Meridian, Miss., and consequently resigned.

Judge John A. Breath later became secretary and held that trust for several decades until his death and it was under his guidance and recognized efficiency that the Peoples Building & Loan Association served the community in many ways of usefulness.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL TO START

Mrs. Edouard C. Carrere Announces List of Solicitors Who Will Aid In Drive.

Mrs. Edouard C. Carrere, recently appointed chairman of the Hancock county Red Cross Annual Roll Call, by the general county chairman, announces her list of to-work-ers for the drive which is to follow, seeking the enrollment of every person who will contribute a dollar for a year's subscription. The list is complete up to the time of The Echo going to press. Other names will possibly be added.

With designating their respective territory limits or confines, the following names comprise the names of workers for the drive.

Mrs. G. Y. Blaize, Mrs. Claud Kohler, Mrs. George F. Stevenson, Miss Kathleen Renshaw, Mrs. Wilson Moore, Mrs. Claud Monti, Mrs. Edmund Fahey, Mrs. James J. Grevenberg, Mrs. J. C. Buckley, Mrs. C. M. Rea, Mrs. A. P. Smith, Mrs. Leo W. Seal, Mrs. Chas. G. Moreau, Mrs. Hubert de Ben, Mrs. Theodore T. Robin, chairman of Waveland; Miss May H. Edwards, secretary; Mrs. Edouard C. Carrere, executive chairman of drive.

The football squads of Moss Point and the St. Stanislaus Rockchaws will tie up here Friday (to-night) October 8, when the two teams will meet in what is expected to be a decidedly close tussle.

Coach "Wop" Glover's fighting Rockchaws as yet undefeated this year, are meeting up with an almost intact Moss Point squad from last year. Moss Point, with two wins and one loss under their belts, has the upper hand in game experience.

Moss Point is a light, but shifty team, and plans to use more deception in their plays, while Coach Glover, with a more heavier team, is using power drives. Moss Point suffered their only defeat of the season when they lost to Gulfport Hi last week, in the last minute of play. A blocked punt on their own 5 yard line accounted for the heart breaker.

All week long, the Rockchaws have been drilling intensively on line work, mainly blocking, tackling, and charging, and when they take the field Friday night, fans will be sure to witness a machine-like co-ordination in their playing.

Moss Point is coming to the Bay 500 strong, so a large crowd of Coastal admirers is expected to turn out for the affair. Both school's bands will go through maneuvers at the half.

Following is the lineup of both teams:

ACCIDENTS ON HIGHWAYS.

IN numerous cases of investigation, following automobile accidents on the highway, it is revealed that frequently some monster and formidable freight van or carrier truck is in the main cause of the collision.

The Pass Christian Tarpon newspaper asks for the "removal of the three-story and ten and fifteen-ton trucks from city streets."

The Tarpon's report and comment of a recent Bay St. Louis accident follows:

On Highway 90 near the city of Bay St. Louis two prominent residents of that city, Mrs. Henry Carver and Mrs. Sylvester Moran, were painfully, if not seriously injured by wounds in the head, when their cars had a collision with a truck on the highway Thursday evening. They were both taken to the hospital at the Bay.

Such collisions are growing too frequent and dangerous and should be reduced by the removal of the three-story and 10 to 15 ton trucks from city streets, and regulate them on county roads where they would not be a continuous source of injury, and in many instances death.

The matter is quite a serious one and how it is going to be remedied seemingly has not as yet been worked out. It seems it would devolve on the authorities for more and stringent regulations regarding the "house on wheels" that travels and strains the wear and tear of the expensive highways tax-payers are annually drained to pay.

It is not uncommon to meet with "trucks" that take two-thirds of the roadway, leaving little or no room for passing passenger cars. Some may be likened to the size of a freight car, on wheels, traveling from coast to coast. And in unfair competition to the railroads who help pay the road bonds issued for use of competitive bus and freight vans.

Automobile accidents have, unfortunately, become so common, as to elicit little or no attention than possibly the thought,—just another death. The proportion of casualties and fatalities on the highways and byways have reached such proportion that it no more staggers the senses and registers no emotions. However, another home is robbed, possibly children orphaned and the future of a family is wrecked and grief enters the lives of those left behind.

AGED WOMAN GRATEFUL TO CAT.

A WEALTHY and lonely aged woman, Mrs. Linnie Claycomb Benecker, residing in New Orleans, died there recently, living years alone after she had buried mother and husband,—all the kin she had.

She left a will. Therein was a clause for the upkeep of her pet cat, "Kit-Kat," described as big, black and bowlegged feline. The will provides that $10,000 be set aside for the feed and comfort of one of the two pets that gave her so much happiness in her lonely life. The other, dead, was named "Mewie."

A lady friend of the deceased states that one of the two at one time saved her life from fire while she slept and that in addition to her fond attachment to either Mewie or Kit-Kat it was a profession of her gratitude.

The money belonged to the friend of felinity and surely she could dispose of it as she expressly desired. However, the fact remains this amount appropriated to the use of buying milk for babies in want and undernourished children might have met with unanimous approval and served to far better purpose.

Even though she had a predilection for succoring dumb animals the money might have effectively and surely served to wider purpose had she willed it to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, an organization functioning in New Orleans efficiently and to advantage.

The daily prodigality of waste and extravagance in which money is dissipated that we note on every side is far worse than that which the late Mrs. Benecker has so willed "Kit-Kat."

It is assumed the cat will not outlive an expenditure of $10,000 for food and the specified comfort and that the good ladies in which so much trust was reposed as the indirect legatees will in turn come in for the bulk of the residue, after all living and housing expenses incurred have been disposed of. So, after all, in return for fulfilling the obligation of the trust imposed, they will come in for such as is left as theirs. Even though "Kit-Kat" like all cats, might have nine lives, her life will in the average be all too short compared with the sum of money.

SHORT CUT AND SPEED DEMONS.

BUILDING and completing the newer short cut between Pearl River and Bay St. Louis, Old Spanish Trail, will not shorten the distance to a very appreciable proportion. But the advantage, is stated, that such route eliminates dangerous curves and in that way not only removes the serious hazard but will make for easier driving and thus save double time. If present speed is not accelerated by "wide open roads," a temptation to "open up" full ahead, then the new highway will serve to good stead and let the day of ultimate completion hasten.

Speed breeds careless driving and it is to this indifference that much of the danger and accidents may be attributed. Not until reckless driving is curbed—not until then will this particular hazard on the Highway be removed. Highway patrolmen and constant vigilance on their part will contribute vastly to minimizing the toll of human lives. We hope patrolling the highway in Hancock county will continue with the present efficient service.

It means for protection.

CHIEF JUSTICE BLACK.

SENATOR Hugo L. Black, recently appointed to place on the Supreme Court Bench by President Roosevelt and subsequently confirmed by the Senate, took his seat Monday. The appointment, ostensibly, as the President indicated in public speech, is of one from the ranks, whom he presumably assumed is friendly to his new deal policies.

Charged with being a member of the K. K. K. order by the Pittsburg Post-Gazette, and not denied while the appointee was vacationing in England, the matter was given world-wide publicity—and far from the enviable kind.

Silence generally gives consent. Senator Black refused to be interviewed by the press and to give voice to any statement whatever until his return to America.

This announcement came over by nationwide hook-up. Incidentally it was broadcast from coast to coast at a published cost of $44,000.00. His salary is $20,000 per annum.

He accuses who accuses, is an old French saying and still holds good. He admitted the charge that he joined the klan and proceeded to excuses.

Senator Black's address is widely interpreted—in various ways by the press and from other sources over the country.

The speech was to answer one question, did he ever belong to the hooded order?

If he did, it was not to be tolerated, according to general sentiment prior to the address. If he did not, then all would be well. The stigma would have unwarrantedly been charged and amends would be forthcoming.

The statement said he did.

That should settle it. For the time being, at least.

But even at that, he seemingly apologized for being a poor K. K. K. member inasmuch, he avers, he never took part and was never actively identified with the deliberations of the secret order. The klan should be ashamed of such poor member.

He sought to ingratiate himself at the age of 32 for political engrandizement. He repudiates it at 51 when he is elected to exalted place. He could not very well deny that he had ever joined, if he wished. Evidence was clean cut and absolute.

If he used an organization and its purports for political enhancement only then he traduced those who had abiding faith in him and took him into their confidence. Violating all ethics of oath.

In closing his address Senator Black ran away from the subject when he said it was closed, as far as he was concerned, and nothing more would be forthcoming from him on the subject. Friends say he was manfully enough to come out with the truth and admire his candor. Critics, however, take a different view. Charge him with being yellow since he runs away. The matter might be closed for the time being, but it will be used as a weapon in the next Presidential campaign, even though kind thoughts are to the effect political enemies are attempting to make a mountain out of a mole hill. Like the ghost of the famous character in classic, it will not down, regardless of present and subsequent proceedings. It will go down into history.

It's about time to begin to think up reasons for being thankful on Turkey day.

A POINT TO CONSIDER.

AGITATION continues unabated concerning the Coast beach highway between Henderson Point and the eastern outpost of Biloxi's boundaries—to hardsurface as a double boulevard or to have the State build a backroad hardsurfaced for general traffic.

The pros and cons seem about equal, but the Coast or beach antis seem to be more active in their opposition to paving the beach highway to double the present width.

It will be remembered when Gov. White visited the Coast recently and after traveling the entire section and making a cursory survey he approved the beach highway and said nothing about the back road. He placed his stamp of approval on the front highway and promised to recommend that it be hardsurfaced at the coming session of the Legislature.

He said nothing about a back road. He promised no other recommendation but that for the beach.

It must be remembered when the Harrison county seawall was built ample space was reserved and provides for a double roadway. That the wall, immediately adjoining would be topped with a roadway surface that would serve as a sort of apron to protect the soil from wave erosion.

It would be too bad, if, because of local dissension Gov. White would withdraw the recommendation he pledged for the beachway. In that event the Coast would be vast loser in sharing the $42,000,000 appropriation for Mississippi Highway appropriation. And there would be no room for censure.

Not all the tax-dodgers in the United States are men and women of great wealth.

BAY ST. LOUIS HOSPITAL.

NECESSITY of a hospital for Bay St. Louis and balance of Hancock county was never so emphasized as since its building and ever since. Sunday evening past every available bed was taken and emergency cases were treated in the xray room and a cot used in the reception room for an emergency patient that had to be taken to a private home that night.

The King's Daughters hospital is doing splendid service. Its value to the locality cannot be overestimated. Its usefulness is best gauged by the statement that frequently there is no further room for patients.

Indications are a new hospital or addition will soon have to be constructed and that in the immediate future.

The hospital has saved many lives because of its immediate location to our people and the traveling public.

Mrs. Craft, superintendent, and her force are doing efficient work and workers in the cause of King's Daughters and Sons are to be commended for their work in the interest of humanity. Mrs. Fournier, president, and her associates are accomplishing a blessed work.

WHAT THE PRESS IS SAYING OF MEN AND MATTERS IN EDITORIAL EXPRESSION

ATTACKING THE TOKENS.

(Jackson News)

CHANCELLOR James Finley, Tupelo, declined jurisdiction in a test case involving constitutionality of our token tax law.

Retail sales tax not involved. That has already been settled by the Supreme Court.

Attack is one use of brass and aluminum tokens.

Chancellor Finley in declining jurisdiction ruled that violation of the law requiring taxing of tokens "contemplates criminal action."

That must mean that those engaged in any business requiring them to demand tokens from customers must do so or risk going to jail.

A mercantile firm at Iuka sought an injunction in Chancellor Finley's court to restrain the State Tax Commission from enforcing the token law.

There is a story behind that story.

Many merchants in North Mississippi have been defying both the token law and the retail sales tax law, flouting the State Tax Commission.

The token law is a part and parcel of the retail sales tax law.

Tokens are troublesome, of course. They are nuisances. They mess up the small change in your purses and pockets. They make you think you have money when you have it not.

Still the law is the law.

January session of the legislature will not dare to repeal the retail sales tax law, neither will it touch the token law.

They jointly furnish most of

HE'S ON A HOT SPOT.

(Jackson News)

HUGO BLACK'S explanation of his membership in the Ku Klux Klan was just about the filiest bunch of wordage ever perpetrated.

He said he was handed an "unsolicited membership card"; that he never paraded or attended a meeting.

Folks didn't get into the K. K. K. that way. They had to be present in person and take a blood-bound oath.

Hugo's seat at the end of the United States Supreme Court bench is going to be a "hot spot." It will be quite too hot for comfortable sitting.

Hugo's appointment to membership in the United States Supreme Court is a disgrace to the world's foremost tribunal and a black spot on the name of the President who put him there.

His confirmation as a member by the United States Senate ranks among the most tragic mistakes in American history.

The current tax money now going into the state treasury. North Mississippi merchants, and others, engaged in business up that way, cannot continue to flout the law. They hold no special privilege.

Tax Commissioner Alf Stone is going to have something to say on that subject in his report to the legislature.

Commissioner Stone's report will probably reach the lawmakers before the constitutional attack on the token statute reaches the Supreme Court.

PAGEANT AT EDGEWATER DEPICTS RED CROSS AT WORK IN EMERGENCIES

Carl Marshall of Bay St. Louis, Principal Speaker to Assembly Estimated at Over One Thousand—Relief Work Portrayed in Dramatic Story.

Before a large crowd of more than 1000 persons, the destructive flood which swept through the Ohio valley last winter was dramatized at the Edgewater Gulf Hotel Wednesday night of last week by the American Red Cross in its pageant, "Partnership Under the Red Cross Emblem."

In graphic style, the audience was taken through the first dramatic hours of the flood when frantic calls for boats, food, clothing, medicine, doctors and nurses swamped the Washington headquarters of the American Red Cross. There were pauses in the "broadcast" period for brief addresses by Red Cross officials and heads of governmental units whose activities were co-ordinated by the Nation's disaster relief organization during the emergency.

Marshall Speaks

The principal speaker was Carl Marshall, coast attorney, who said the Red Cross "is a vitally necessary part of our social system and from the support of which no man can withdraw and still maintain the life of the Christian. The Red Cross is not a cause but an effect; it is not an end, but the means through which the end is the relief of human suffering. The cause is that innate and sympathetic impulse of civilized beings to rally to the support of the stricken and the unfortunate."

"The Red Cross today is the concrete expression of the big heart of America as well as a high exemplification of America's genius for efficiency," Mr. Marshall said. "Through it, with the strength of 130,000,000 souls and the resources of millions of square miles of area, the citizens of the United States rush, not as individuals, but as an organized body, to the relief of the distressed, or move majestically to the betterment of mankind."

"In the home, in the fields, in the schools, on the highways, in the army and the navy in quiet times and turbulent; in peace and in war; in sunshine and in storm—wherever calamity is to be alleviated and the stricken restored—there the citizenry of the United States is found, intelligently serving through its efficient agency, the Red Cross."

Lauds Red Cross.

Mr. Marshall said "the glory of the American Red Cross lies in the fact that while it is governmentally directed in a large measure, the support rendered it by the American people and the power that our people exert through it, is wholly voluntary, and its ministrations are without discrimination."

Richard F. Allen, manager of the Eastern area of the American Red Cross, who directed operations in Kentucky during the flood, and Everett Dix, assistant manager, described the work as they saw it. In its emergency phases, in rescue, mass feeding and sheltering, and later during the rehabilitation period when multiplied thousands of families were returned to new rebuilt and refurbished homes, this operation was the highest and most difficult to handle the Red Cross has ever been confronted with in its history, they said.

"Through the wholehearted support and co-operation of the public and the government the Red Cross was able to do the job well," the speakers said, "and today thru the Ohio and Mississippi valleys, 97,000 families—over 1,000,000 persons—are once more living normal lives through the aid of the Red Cross with generous support was able to give them."

Work of the army in the disaster was described by Colonel Leland S. Hobbs, who told of the disaster toll, and how thousands of tons of equipment were provided to the Red Cross for refugees. He told also of the army's vast flood-control system along the Mississippi and the heroic efforts of army men who worked night and day to keep these levees from going out.

The Coast Guard, represented at the pageant by Captain William J. Wheeler, commander of the New Orleans division, was portrayed both by word and moving pictures. Captain Wheeler described the daring runs made by his unit who risked their lives time and again to rescue families marooned on house-tops and in trees.

Dr. Underwood Speaks

Dr. Felix J. Underwood, Mississippi state health officer, related the story of the United States public health department's battle against disease and pestilence, which many feared would follow the catastrophe. He told the story of how the department's doctors and nurses battled without sleep in preventing a second calamity.

The film, "I Met Him in Paris," cost over a million dollars to make, and "The Garden of Allah" to more than a million and a half. "Lost Horizon" cost $1,850,000, while the expense of "The Good Earth" totaled $2,000,000.
